LANDSCAPE VILLA

This spacious villa is situated on a generous plot tucked away in a wooded area where peace and quiet prevail. Custom detailing permeates the home, and the interior design showcases the distinctive signature of Studio Piet Boon. Sandy tones, which serve as the foundation for the entire home, bring out the materials, such as contrasting dark furniture and various textures. The consistent proportions in form and sophisticated use of bright accent colors, illustrate the personality of the family and allow the residents to fully enjoy the secure, homey atmosphere.

OAK VALLEY RESIDENTIAL RESORT

In the rich mountain landscape of pristine forests in the Gangwon Province, is this home at Oak Valley. The interior of this private home in South Korea is infused with characteristic Studio Piet Boon features through the use of natural materials such as oak floors. Seamlessly blending the home with its natural surroundings, we clad the entire exterior with a local granite stone. As art played an important part in designing the interior, we designed various solutions throughout the home to accommodate the different local and international art pieces. Permeating the interior with hallmarks of our style, subdued colors make up the color scheme.

SECRET SANCTUARY

This hidden, enchanting home is located in a leafy area of Amsterdam. The character of the building made it possible to create a total design in which the owner's passion for elegant and specially designed details contribute to the uniqueness of the project. The subdued color scheme, consistently implemented throughout the home, provides the perfect backdrop for the client's curated collection of art and objects. Unique designed details such as the alcoves in the wall and the staircase banister are subtle reminders of the resident's many travels to other cultures. The sunken bathtub in the bedroom suite has been given the ambience of a hammam, matching the relaxed atmosphere she desired for the room.

SPACIOUS CANAL HOUSE

This unique and beautiful historic residence of over 700 square metre is located along one of the most charming canals of Amsterdam. The intention of the interior design of this five-story canal house was to restore authentic details, such as high ceilings with original ornaments and beams, while providing a comfortable and modern living environment. Together with the client, a logical layout was designed in which the various rooms are harmoniously connected by spacious corridors. The result is a historic, unique and opulent family home where a balance between the past and present is reflected in the details. The distinctive signature of Studio Piet Boon allows the modern design to fit seamlessly into the classical context.

MODERN TOWNHOUSE AMSTERDAM

The client's request was to review the existing internal layout of this beautifully located stately Amsterdam home and carry out a contemporary renovation to create a functional and inviting family home. The design of this four story home meets the residents' need for more space by expanding the rear of the house, adding a roof terrace and deepening a spacious basement. The renovation accentuates the richness of character that has developed over time.

RESIDENTIAL APARTMENT PARIS

To create a true haven away from the hectic pace of the city, a subdued color palette was chosen. Then the generous art collection was sorted by color and carefully placed in different rooms, giving each room its own color accent. Without compromising on the quality of the materials used, this home fully represents what makes Studio Piet Boon unique: the art of designing modest luxury and delivering a harmonious living experience. In doing so, the owners' love of beautiful materials and art objects is reflected throughout to make it a true home.

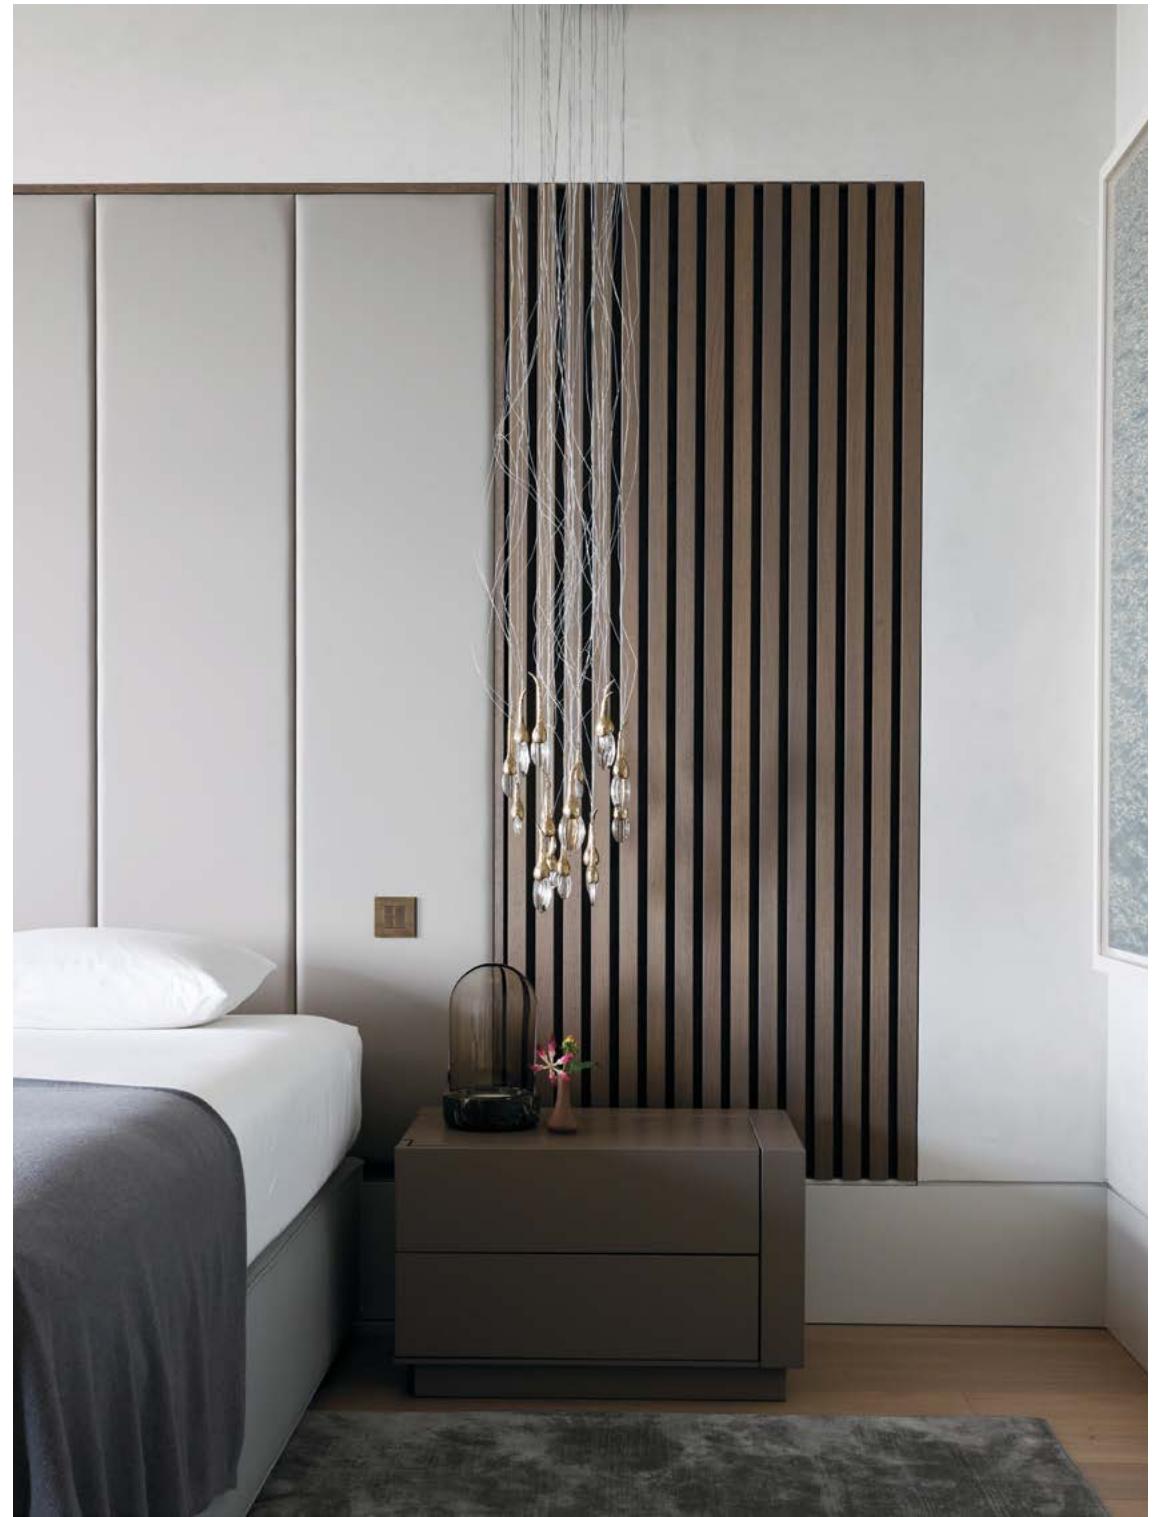

RESIDENTIAL APARTMENT AMSTERDAM

In all Studio Piet Boon designs, the emphasis is on exceptional quality and the balance between functionality and expressive forms. This is carried through to the smallest detail, giving the owners' beloved artworks a deserved central place in this home. The spacious apartment is situated in a unique location in an impressive building, overlooking the bustling wharf on one side and the old city of Amsterdam on the other. Upon entering, one immediately notices the spacious hallway where a clear separation is made between the active living areas and the master bedroom. Together with the client, a logical and functional plan was made for the entire house, underlining the spaciousness of this 250 square meter apartment.

MICRO CONDO

This private home shows that comfortable and luxurious living does not necessarily equate to a large living area. Studio Piet Boon was asked to transform a 15.8 square meter apartment on the Amsterdam canals into a luxury 'micro condo.' The design approach was to create the feeling of luxury by integrating as many (hidden) functionalities as possible in combination with the use of rich materials. In our design, we embraced the original historical features. By using art, rich materials, high quality detailing and custom made freestanding and fixed furniture, we were able to infuse the entire house with a sense of luxury.

KAS DORRIE

Located on one of Bonaire's most pristine beaches is Kas Dorrie: a luxury design beach villa. The atmosphere of the island has been elegantly translated into the interior and styling of the villa. During the design of the exterior, interior and construction of Kas Dorrie, the use of natural materials and elements played an important role. Inspired by island life and traditional local rural "kunuku" houses, the two-volume beach villa was designed to take advantage of the wind. The interior of the villa includes custom-made furniture by Piet Boon. The harmonious color palette is subdued, with frequent use of colors that are naturally occurring on the island.

PORTUGAL VILLA

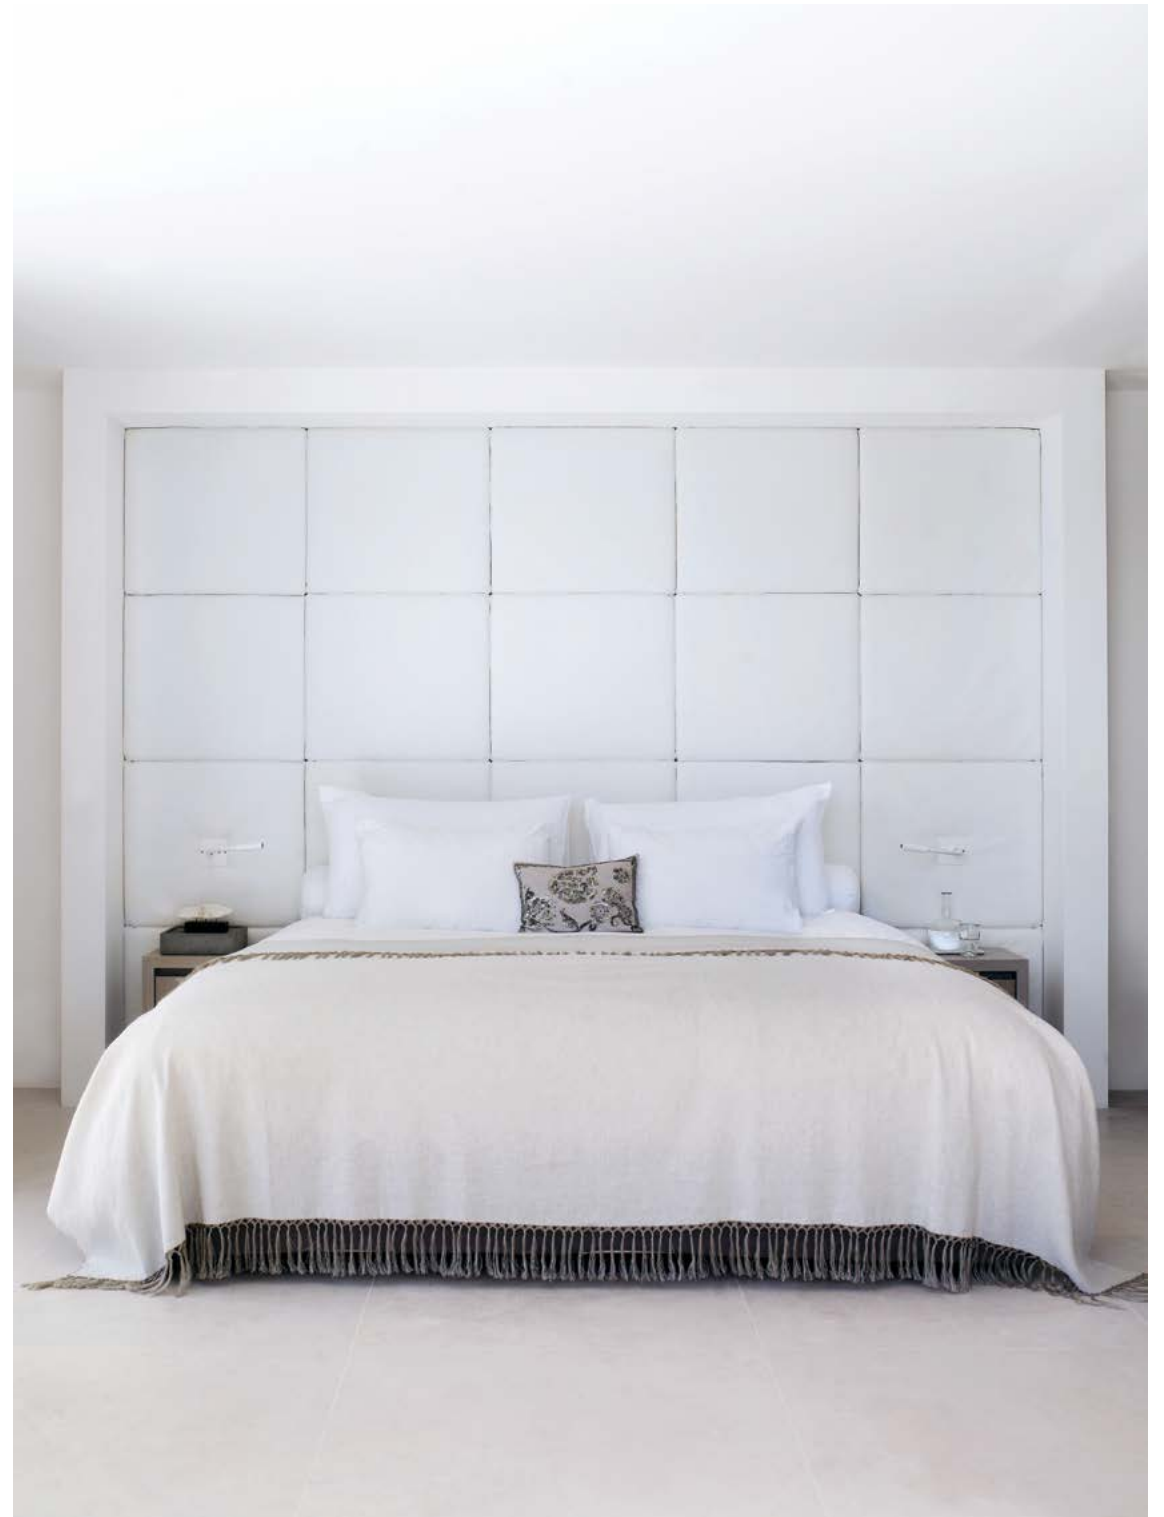

The owners of this holiday home in southern Portugal lead busy lives. With this in mind, we ensured the color palette was subdued, thereby creating a calming, relaxing mood. The lady of the house has a penchant for luxury, stylish fabrics, the warmth of special objects, and details. This atmosphere is consistently carried through by choosing to group sand-colored accessories and textiles, such as linen, tonally. The exterior showcases a local characteristic through the use of locally quarried natural stone and gives the outdoor space an authentic look. The various terraces offer users a serene place to sunbathe and dine.

MEDITERRANEAN GARDEN VILLA

The exterior and interior design for this family home was inspired by the local Spanish architectural style, combined with the Studio Piet Boon signature. A serene color palette was consistently chosen, creating a calming, relaxing atmosphere. Throughout the house, the local, naturally weathered wood can be seen in the fixed furniture and doors. Along with the rough stucco, this home takes on a recognizable casual and traditional Spanish feel. At the front, the home has an enclosed character with smaller windows, reminiscent of a castle. Along with its elevated location, the home offers residents both privacy and security. The Mediterranean garden has a relaxed atmosphere where the architecture blends in naturally and everyday life is connected to nature. The result is a warm and welcoming haven where the family can gather, work or relax.

HOW WE WORK

Every design is unique just as every family or household is; therefore, we consider every job to be custom made. The start of every project begins with a comprehensive briefing, where we consider the daily rhythm and personal taste of the client. Our design approach for a private project consists of four phases and two optional services. In the following pages, these different design phases are roughly described, giving an idea of our way of working.

Depending on the assignment, a team of designers with different specialisms is assigned to each project. Our multidisciplinary teams consist of designers, project managers and stylists. A designated Client Director is your point of contact throughout the process and guides you through the various stages of the design process.

PRELIMINARY RESEARCH

In this initial phase, we investigate the possibilities based on the client's wishes for the project.

PHASE 1
CONCEPT & ARCHITECTURE

During this phase we create a concept design, the visualization of the exterior and a layout of the house.

PHASE 2
INTERIOR DESIGN

The interior is now further developed including a material proposal and the final floor plans with the fixed furniture.

PHASE 3
FREESTANDING FURNITURE

Next, the interior is finalized here by working out the freestanding furniture, window coverings and both freestanding / decorative lighting.

PHASE 4
MOVE IN

During project completion, all of the freestanding furniture will be placed according to the interior design.

OPTIONAL SERVICE
AESTHETIC SUPERVISION

If requested, we provide supervision and review of the aesthetics and drawings from third parties.

OPTIONAL SERVICE
STYLING, DECORATION & ART

We offer an advisory role in selecting art, objects and accessories so that the interior is brought to a whole.
